

MERCURY FALLS TO 32 MARK

Drop of 26 Degrees Is Recorded Since Tuesday at Noon, Report Says

COLD WILL REMAIN

Weather is Not Near So Cold as Last Year

A drop in temperature of 26 degrees from noon Tuesday until the same time Wednesday was reported by Dr. H. R. Clarke, weather observer, Wednesday afternoon. Mercury, in an unseasonable record, stood at 70 degrees at noon Tuesday and, according to Dr. Clarke's thermometer, was at the 34 mark at noon Wednesday.

The low mark recorded during Tuesday night and early Wednesday was 32.

A cold rain Tuesday evening gave warning of the impending drop in temperature which had been expected following sub-zero weather in several western states during the past week.

SNOW PREDICTED
The first snow was predicted for today by weather bureau officials who also said that freezing temperatures would follow. Mercury was expected to drop as low as 24 degrees during Wednesday night with Thanksgiving remaining about that mark.

It will be recalled that Thanksgiving day in 1930 was about the coldest day of the year, the temperature reaching zero.

Northern Ohio was visited by a 35-mile-an-hour west wind which forced the mercury down 30 degrees in 12 hours.

Temperatures reached freezing at Cleveland airport at 5 a. m. Wednesday.

AIRMAN FORCED DOWN

In the far west, Norman Potter, 36, air mail pilot, and Mary Snow, 13, lost their lives in Rocky Mountain blizzards there have begun to rise, however, and highways were being cleared of drifts.

Northern Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas had heavy snowfall, with wires and telegraph poles blown down in many sections.

Many western farms hailed the snowfall, for the cold ended late fall sprouting which they feared would ruin growth next spring.

On the Pacific coast, fruit growers burned smudge pots to protect their orchards against frost, but relief from the cold was forecast.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Cool breezes were promised for today by the weatherman to drive away the unprecedented late fall heat wave in which New York and the eastern states generally basked for a week.

Showers were forecast which would drive the thermometer from record high of 72 degrees to 50 tonight. Even colder weather was predicted for tomorrow.

Heavy fog in the harbor prevented the S. S. Paris and the S. S. Olympic from docking on time. Both were expected to land their passengers from Europe today, after anchoring in the bay all night.

Fog also forced down a number of airplanes.

STATE HEADING FOR BETTER TIMES SAYS EXECUTIVE IN TALK

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—Furnishing the state with an inspiration of its traditional Thanksgiving observance tomorrow, Governor George White today reported a sudden cessation of Ohio bank failures.

A falling-off in the number of bank liquidations has been disclosed in news sent to Mr. White by the state banking department. International News Service learned in an exclusive interview.

The cheering information was placed at the head of the governor's "Why I Am Thankful" list. Simultaneously the governor declared he believes the state is headed back toward better times. News about the banks, he said, "evidences a restoration of confidence and trust by the people of Ohio in their banking institutions."

In addition to noting the abrupt about-face in the financial trend, the governor declared:

"We of Ohio should be thankful for evidence that we have seen the worst of the depression."

"At last we are making what probably will be slow progress in our return to prosperity."

He added that the state might well express its gratitude for abundant produce on Ohio farm this year.

"As the governor of Ohio, I am thankful for the bounteous crops in the agricultural counties. Although he may be short on money, the farmer will have plenty to eat," Mr. White said.

Grope Way to Safety Through Smoke in Columbus Training School.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—Groping their way to safety through billows of dense smoke, more than a dozen blind employees of the state commission for the blind escaped possible suffocation here today when a two-alarm fire swept the adult training school and destroyed hundreds of brooms.

The blind workers marched out of the smoke clouded building in orderly fashion as they had been drilled in regularly-scheduled fire drills.

DAMAGE $600

The blaze broke out in a rear store room for brooms. Approximately $600 damages were done by the flames, the origin of which was unknown.

An investigation of the fire was ordered at once by the officials of the state fire marshal's office.

Although damages done by the fire, smoke and water caused suspension of the school today, officials said that operations will be resumed Friday.

Only one person able to see was in the building when the fire broke out. She was Mrs. Allie Brown who had just brought her blind husband, Stanley, to the school. She aided in leading the blind men to safety.

Although damages done by the blaze were only slight fire department officials indicated that a tragedy had been narrowly averted.

Many Things Are Found To Be Thankful For

Thursday, November 26, has been proclaimed by President Hoover as a day of special Thanksgiving for all the people.

It is a good thing to pause in the mad whirl of life to take inventory of stock. Every good business man does it. Let us then, forgetting for a time at least, the cares and perplexities which do so beset us on every hand, and take a thoughtful inventory of the many blessings we accept in such a matter-of-fact manner, not omitting the reasons for thanksgiving which we sometimes lose sight of.

As we glance backward over the past two years it would seem that there was little reason for thankfulness. Let's see. Reading the newspapers there is no cause for thanksgiving that we live in the United States; not in China or Russia or Germany or even in England with its unemployment problem and its dole.

True we have a great army of unemployed but when we subtract from the number of those who will not work—never have worked—and never will work—the remainder is not so staggering as it seems at first sight.

Is there not cause for thankfulness that there are so many like Abou Ben Adhem who love their fellow men and are willing to help those less fortunate? May we not say with Dr. Couer "Every day in every way, things are getting better and better?"

As a nation we have been profligate, hedonistic, selfish. This time of stress has posted a warning "Stop, Look and Listen." Is there not cause for thankfulness that we have been halted before it was too late? Have we not heard the "Still, small voice" "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." (Continued on Page Six.)

Grope Way to Safety Through Smoke In Columbus Training School.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—Groping their way to safety through billows of dense smoke, more than a dozen blind employees of the state commission for the blind escaped possible suffocation here today when a two-alarm fire swept the adult training school and destroyed hundreds of brooms.

The blind workers marched out of the smoke clouded building in orderly fashion as they had been trained in regularly-scheduled fire drills.

DAMAGE $600

The blaze broke out in a rear store room for brooms. Approximately $600 damages were done by the flames, the origin of which was unknown.

An investigation of the fire was ordered at once by the officials of the state fire marshal's office.

Although damages done by the fire, smoke and water caused suspension of the school today, officials said that operations will be resumed Friday.

Only one person able to see was in the building when the fire broke out. She was Mrs. Allie Brown, who had just brought her blind husband, Stanley, to the school. She aided in leading the blind men to safety.

Although damages done by the blaze were only slight fire department officials indicated that a tragedy had been narrowly averted.

BURNS ARE FATAL

Grass was a graduate of Marietta College and Harvard University.

THE SPIRIT OF THIS DAY

It is one thing to be officially thankful and quite another to be actually and personally so. To accept Thanksgiving as an admittedly welcome holiday; to spend it at home enjoying a good dinner followed by a comfortable nap and then to go out for a call or two on friends is not enough. One might do this and still not be in the spirit of the day. As the greatest of the apostles has written, "the letter killeth but the spirit giveth life."

To be in the spirit of Thanksgiving is to reflect upon the reasons that one has for national, family and personal thankfulness. Maybe a glance at the pages of a school history of our country might help to quicken the pulse and brighten the eye. Possibly a steady gazing on the familiar features of Washington or Lincoln might be an aid to reflection. Perhaps a mingling with one's fellows in a congregation and the blending of a thousand voices in the strains of "America the Beautiful" might work wonders and be better for the heart than a physician's prescription.

By all means get the spirit of this day, cultivate the habit of thankfulness; let the lift of the long meter doxology lift one to the peaks of praise. The spirit's the thing! possess the spirit of gratitude and not only Thanksgiving but every day takes on a new meaning and becomes big with the promise of good will and a friendly world. Recall the Pilgrim Fathers that "Amidst the storm they sang." Yes, they sang because their spirits were keyed to "the anthem of the free."

Before there was an official Thanksgiving in America, there was a spiritual experience of gratitude spontaneous and profound. That's why we celebrate this day!

MASCHKE HEAD OF WET MOVE

Cleveland Republican Leader Seeking Repeal of Dry Law In Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—A concerted drive to obtain repeal of the prohibition amendment to the Ohio constitution, adopted in 1918, was under way here today, backed by Maurice Maschke of Cleveland, Republican national committeeman for Ohio.

Incorporation papers were filed for the Association opposed to the State Prohibition Amendment, an organization which will sponsor the repeal campaign and attend to the circulation of petitions which would place the question of repeal before the voters in the May primaries next spring.

While leaders of the movement stated that the petitions already have been put into circulation and approximately 100,000 of the necessary 257,000 signatures have been obtained, the incorporation of the organization was expected to clear the way for more efficient efforts.

Maschke's signature as trustee of the organization is "most significant, as the attitude of this prominent Ohio Republican on the prohibition question has been a matter of conjecture in political circles," a statement issued by the incorporators declared.

Kleberg Elected to Succeed Republican in Congress; Margin Is Huge.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 25.—Richard J. Kleberg, Democrat of Corpus Christi, today was Texas' new representative in Congress. He was elected in yesterday's special congressional poll held to choose a successor to the late Rep. Harry M. Wurzbach, Republican.

Incomplete returns early today from all counties of the fourth district gave Kleberg a lead of nearly 5,000 over his leading rival Carl Wright Johnson, also a Democrat. Charles W. Anderson, Republican and formerly Rep. Wurzbach's campaign manager, emerged from the count a poor third.

Latest election returns accorded Kleberg 14,576 votes, Johnson had 9,643, while Anderson polled 3,621 ballots.

The successful candidate favored prohibition modification in his campaign platform.

Woman, Claiming Name Is Mary Jane Tuneson of Circleville, Is Arrested For Ohio State U. Campus Robberies

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—A young woman who gave her name to police as Mary Jane Tuneson, of Circleville, was held today for questioning in connection with a series of robberies of fraternity houses on the Ohio State University campus.

Police believe she is the bold and elusive girl who on four occasions snatched into the fraternity houses, picked up cash and jewelry and calmly walked out again.

Students victimized in the robberies were to confront the girl today in an attempt to identify her as the bandit. She was arrested on a misconduct charge but was to be grilled by authorities in an attempt to link her with the university crimes.

On the four occasions when fraternity houses were burglarized, about $126 in cash and $50 in jewelry was obtained.

17 MILLIONS ARE SAVED IN XMAS GROUPS

Pre-Christmas Business Boosted As Money Goes Into Circulation

$48,000 IN COUNTY

962 Depositors Listed In Pickaway This Year

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—A boost for Christmas shopping and business in general will be evident as the banks in the state distribute approximately $17,000,000 to their depositors who took advantage of Christmas Savings clubs during the past year.

This money, accumulated by 367,382 Christmas Club members, will reach a total in excess of $16,855,000 for 1931, according to a survey made by The Ohio Bankers Association.

The average amount of each account is $45.88, showing a persistent spirit of thrift among the members who made regular deposits throughout the year with the banks which encourage systematic saving to meet either unusual or foreseen expenses.

Although Christmas Savings, like all systematic thrift habits, proved to be very useful to the depositors in normal times, their value is greatly enhanced this year, business men believe. Any movement which makes available more than $45, each, to 367,382 persons in Ohio is bound to have a good effect on business.

While the larger portion of this money goes for Christmas shopping or into other retail channels, bankers report that considerable is used for the payment of debts while the remainder is converted into permanent savings accounts where the system of periodic deposits is continued.

In Pickaway-co $48,000 was accumulated by 962 persons through their Christmas Savings deposits in the banks of the county. The average account is $49.90.

The good effect of Christmas savings is actual and is felt to an appreciable extent by retail trade, according to David M. Auch, Secretary of The Ohio Bankers Association, who has studied this question over a period of years.

"While the idea of thrift promotion is always worthwhile," Auch says, "the immediate good results are sometimes obscure. The Christmas Savings Club in the banks offer a good illustration of tangible results. This should be more apparent this year than ever."

"In making Christmas Savings Clubs possible the banks are offering a direct contribution not only to the general business of the community but to every club member as well. The large amount of expense entailed in handling many of these comparatively small accounts makes the operation unprofitable for the banks, which continue their Christmas Clubs largely as a matter of good for their communities."

Stamps, Valued at $47, Missing When Burglars Kick In Rear Door.

Fingerprint specimens, obtained during an investigation Tuesday, furnished the only clues in the third robbery of the Williamsport post office which occurred Monday night. Stamps, valued at $47 were stolen, according to B. H. Moore, the postmaster. No cash was available.

Burglars broke into the post office by kicking in a back door. Moore declared he believed no mail was ransacked as the interior of the post office was left in very orderly condition.

The burglars broke in a window pane and tried to unlock the door but failing in this, they kicked and shoved the door in. Neighbors reported that about 12:30 a. m. they heard noises which they believed were the burglars.

The parents rushed the baby to a hospital where an emergency operation was performed to remove the bullet from his brain. An hour later the baby died.

C. A. C. To Pry Lid Off Local Court Season

Newark Quintet Opposes Club

A large crowd is expected at the Circleville Athletic Club gym Thursday evening when the C. A. C. court team plays its first game of the season against Monte Beaver's Selects of Newark. The club will be out for a victory in their first tilt.

Working diligently for the past three weeks members of the club squad are reported in good condition. Seven athletes have reported for the team, Art Steele, Eve Merriam, Boyce Parks, Judy Gordon, Dick Robinson, Bob Pickens and Joe Barnes, and from this squad Joe Lynch will pick his starting five. It's almost certain that

Steele and Gordon will be the forward posts and that Eve Merriam will be at one guard but the other three positions are wide open. It will be either Boyce Parks or Joe Barnes at center with Dick Robinson and Bob Pickens vying for the second guard job. It is expected that all members will see plenty of service during the tilt.

STRENGTH UNKNOWN

The strength of Beaver's team is not known. Monte usually gets into himself a fast squad but whether they will be able to force the club or not is not known.

The evening's festivities will begin at 7:15 when the Flying Clouds, a group of former high school stars, meet the Church of God team of Columbus. The Clouds will have Maloney, Glitt, Wefler, Zeimer, Clark, and several other former school players in their lineup.

Bill Griffith, of Columbus, will officiate the big game which will precede the usual Thanksgiving dance.

Hornswogging John McGraw is getting to be a favorite pastime with the St. Louis Cardinals. It started when they obtained Frank Frisch for the Giants in exchange for Rogers Hornsby, who couldn't get along with the New York club. Again last winter, McGraw snapped up John Berly, promising pitcher from Rochester, a St. Louis farm. "Why did the Cards let Berly get away?" he moaned. St. Louis fans. They have their answer today. Berly is back in the minors while Paul Derringer, the pitcher the Cards took in preference to Berly, is one of the stars of the St. Louis staff.

Night Coughing Quickly Stopped

Night coughing is almost always caused by an irritated, inflamed throat; so is almost all coughing. Ordinary cough syrups do not reach these conditions, but Thoxine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles, does. It relieves the irritation and the cough stops within 15 minutes. And Thoxine goes still further—it eliminates the internal cause which many times develops into serious illness. A swallow of Thoxine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and children like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes of money back. 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. "TURKEY DAY" GAMES LISTED

Many Clashes of Importance In East While Midwest Is Quiet Until Saturday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Thanksgiving Day, the day when many of the country's gridiron leaders sing their annual swan songs, offers the football fan tomorrow a varied program, studded with several of the outstanding pigskin clashes of the season.

Penn-Cornell, as usual, is the big game in the east on Turkey day. Pitt-Nebraska, N. Y. U-Carnege Tech, Colgate-Brown and Holy Cross-Boston college, however, will provide the spectators along the Atlantic seaboard with just as many thrills, even though they haven't the tradition behind them that this thirty-eighth meeting of the Ithacans and the Quakers carries with it.

None of the middle western leaders will see any action tomorrow, but down south Tennessee, one of the three unbeaten and untied eleven in the country will put its winning streak in serious jeopardy when it tackles Kentucky at Knoxville, and Alabama-Vanderbilt at Nashville also promises lots of spectacular action.

Three other traditional battles down below the Mason-Dixie line feature Auburn and South Carolina in their annual clash at Columbia, S. C.; Virginia and North Carolina at Chapel Hill's beautiful stadium, and V. P. I. and V. M. I. in Virginia's outstanding game, at Roanoke.

ALBANESE IS STAR OF GRID

Merchants to Meet West Side A. C. of Columbus Thanksgiving Game Here.

Don Albanese, a flashy half-back, will be the serious threat the fast West Side A. C. football team will offer against the Circleville Merchants Thanksgiving afternoon at Heise field when these two fast outfits tangle.

Last year the Merchants took the West Side outfit into camp by the score of 14 to 0, and the Columbus boys remember only too well as it was their only defeat of the season. This year they will be out for revenge, while the local griders will be just as stubborn that they will again taste of defeat.

Bob Rapp, former Central High athlete, is coach of the West Side men.

The referee's whistle will send them into action at 2:30 p. m. Several changes are to be made in the Circleville lineup but as yet no definite ones have been announced.

21 LETTERS GIVEN TO LUTHERAN TEAM

SPRINGFIELD, O., — Twenty-five varsity football letters and 20 freshman football awards are granted at Wittenberg College.

Twenty players on the undefeated Wittenberg varsity eleven which disbanded after its sensational 21-6 victory over Dayton U. at Dayton Saturday, were honored upon recommendation of Coach Bill Stobbs, while Manager Robert Garvie of Springfield was also awarded a letter. The 10 seniors who will receive varsity letters will also get blankets, while the 10 non-graduating varsity men and the 20 freshmen will receive sweaters.

Conqueror of Irish

John W. Baker, of the Trojans, whose place kick from the 24-yard line in the last few minutes of play against Notre Dame's undefeated eleven brought victory to Southern California in one of the most spectacular gridiron classics in football history. Baker's sensational boot brought the Trojans' score to 16 against Notre Dame's 14 at South Bend. It was the Irish griders' first defeat in three years.

PICKAWAY IN HOT CONTEST

Meyer-men Win From Washington-Twp 22-21 In Overtime Court Grind.

Pickaway-twp's court team defeated Washington-twp's scrappy aggregation on the Pickaway court Tuesday evening by a 22-21 score in a five minute overtime period. Play was fast and furious with Washington leading until the final minutes of the regular playing time. The count was tied and in the remaining five minutes Graves and Wilson put on steam for the Meyer-men to cop the decision.

Washington led at the half, 11-9.

Coach Meyer used two full teams while Coach Boyer of Washington employed only five men.

A preliminary between the Pickaway girls alumni and the Washington girls alumni was won by the former 23-13.

MIAMI PROSPECTS ON HARDWOOD POOR

Miami prospects for the coming basketball season are anything but bright. Coach John Maurer has only four lettermen and practically no reserves out of which to build his team. The lettermen are: John Niemi, of Ashtabula; the Barrett twins, Dick and Bob, of Springfield; and "Boyc" Cheadle, of Salem, S. D. Niemi and Barrett twins are forwards; Cheadle is a guard.

Roy Mondron, Mt. Vernon, a reserve who was developing fast last year, has been disciplined and will not be available. Andy Lang, Dayton, a center candidate, is the only other reserve of varsity caliber. Maurer will place his hopes in the sophomores, several of whom showed marked ability as freshmen. The best of the lot are: John Anthony, Whiting, Ind.; Warren Ott, Cleveland; Lee Mosstetter, Mason; Lewis McCann, Dayton; C. Csepke, Niles; Paul Schmitt, Port Clinton; James Allan, Dayton.

The schedule is as stiff as ever faced by a Miami team. Twelve Buckeye Conference games, two games with Big Ten teams and a game with Vanderbilt is a full sized assignment for Maurer's green team.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, among them it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remotest a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

Hornswogling John McGraw is getting to be a favorite pastime with the St. Louis Cardinals. It started when they obtained Frank Frisch for the Giants in exchange for Rogers Hornsby, who couldn't get along with the New York club. Again last winter, McGraw snapped up John Berly, promising pitcher from Rochester, a St. Louis fan. "Why did the Cards let Berly get away?" he moaned St. Louis fans. They have their answer today. Berly is back in the minors while Paul Derringer, the pitcher the Cards took in preference to Berly, is one of the stars of the St. Louis staff.

Night Coughing Quickly Stopped

Night coughing is almost always caused by an irritated, inflamed throat; so is almost all coughing. Ordinary cough syrups do not reach these conditions, but Thoxine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles, does. It relieves the irritation and the cough stops within 15 minutes. And Thoxine goes still further—it eliminates the internal cause which many times develops into serious illness. A swallow of Thoxine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and children like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes of money back. 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. "TURKEY DAY" GAMES LISTED

Many Clashes of Importance In East While Midwest Is Quiet Until Saturday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Thanksgiving Day, the day when many of the country's gridiron leaders sing their annual swan songs, offers the football fan tomorrow a varied program, studded with several of the outstanding pigskin clashes of the season.

Penn-Cornell, as usual, is the big game in the east on Turkey Day. Pitt-Nebraska, N. Y. U.-Carnegie Tech, Colgate-Brown and Holy Cross-Boston college, however, will provide the spectators along the Atlantic seaboard with just as many thrills, even though they haven't the tradition behind them that this thirty-eighth meeting of the Ithacans and the Quakers carries with it.

None of the middle western leaders will see any action tomorrow, but down south Tennessee, one of the three unbeaten and untied eleven in the country will put its winning streak in serious jeopardy when it tackles Kentucky at Knoxville, and Alabama-Vanderbilt at Nashville also promises lots of spectacular action.

Three other traditional battles down below the Mason-Dixie line feature Auburn and South Carolina in their annual clash at Columbia, S. C.; Virginia and North Carolina at Chapel Hill's beautiful stadium, and V. P. I. and V. M. I. in Virginia's outstanding game, at Roanoke.

ALBANESE IS STAR OF GRID

Merchants to Meet West Side A. C. of Columbus Thanksgiving Game Here.

Don Albanese, a flashy half-back, will be the serious threat to the fast West Side A. C. football team will offer against the Circleville Merchants Thanksgiving afternoon at Heise field when these two fast outfits tangle.

Last year the Merchants took the West Side outfit into camp by the score of 14 to 0, and the Columbus boys remember only too well, as it was their only defeat of the season. This year they will be out for revenge, while the local gridirers will be just as stubborn that they will again taste of defeat.

Bob Rapp, former Central High athlete, is coach of the West Side men.

The referee's whistle will send them into action at 2:30 p. m. Several changes are to be made in the Circleville lineup but as yet no definite ones have been announced.

21 LETTERS GIVEN TO LUTHERAN TEAM

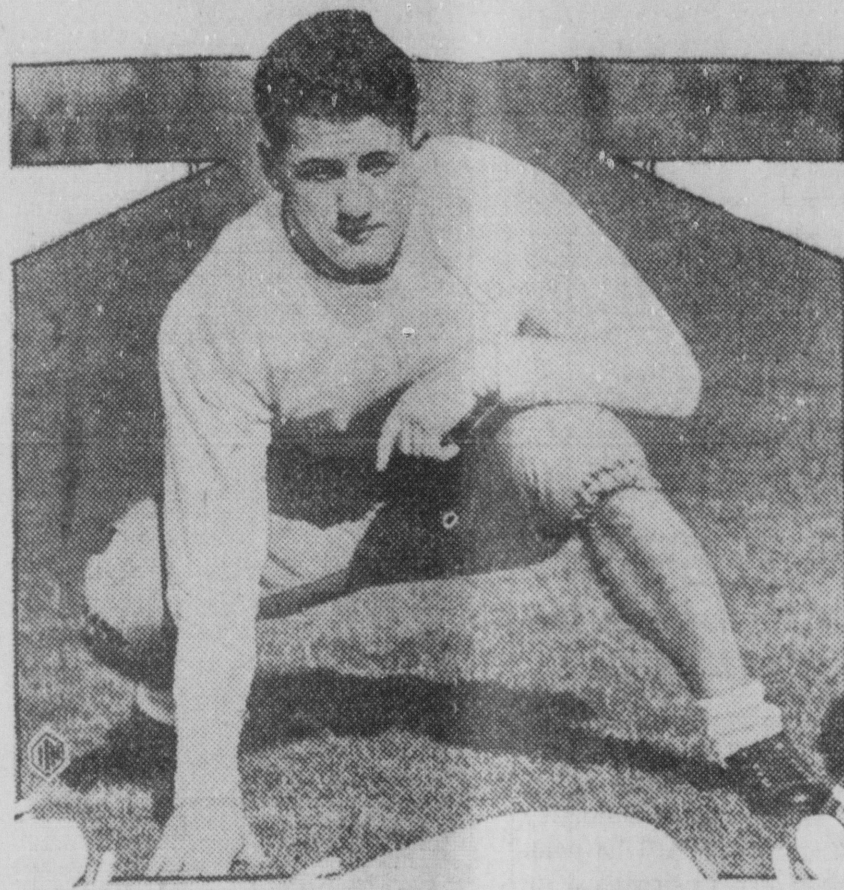

SPRINGFIELD, O., — Twenty-one varsity football letters and 20 freshman football awards are granted at Wittenberg College.

Twenty players on the undefeated Wittenberg varsity eleven, which disbanded after its sensational 21-6 victory over Dayton U. at Dayton Saturday, were honored, upon recommendation of Coach Bill Stobbs, while Manager Robert Garvie of Springfield was also awarded a letter. The 10 seniors who will receive varsity letters will also get blankets, while the 10 non-graduating varsity men and the 20 freshmen will receive sweaters.

The count was tied and in the remaining five minutes the Meyer-men put on steam for the Meyer-men to cop the decision.

Washington led at the half, 11-9.

Coach Meyer used two full teams while Coach Boyer of Washington employed only five men.

MIAMI PROSPECTS ON HARDWOOD POOR

Miami prospects for the coming basketball season are anything but bright. Coach John Maurer has only four lettermen and practically no reserves out of which to build his team. The lettermen are: John Niemi, of Ashtabula; the Barrett twins, Dick and Bob, of Springfield; and "Boyck" Cheadle, of Salem, S. D. Niemi and Barrett twins are forwards; Cheadle is a guard.

Roy Mondron, Mt. Vernon, a reserve who was developing fast last year, has been disciplined and will not be available. Andy Lang, Dayton, a center candidate, is the only other reserve of varsity caliber. Maurer will place his hopes in the sophomores, several of whom showed marked ability as freshmen. The best of the lot are: John Anthony, Whiting, Ind.; Warren Ott, Cleveland; Lee Moss-teller, Mason; Lewis McCann, Dayton; C. Csepke, Niles; Paul Schmitt, Port Clinton; James Allan, Dayton.

The schedule is as stiff as ever faced by a Miami team. Twelve Buckeye Conference games, two games with Big Ten teams and a game with Vanderbilt is a full sized assignment for Maurer's green team.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. ©1931, C. M. Co.

Who Is Screen's Greatest Lover?

Poll of One Hundred Female Movie Fans, in Endeavor to Name Successor to Rudolph Valentino, Reveals Wide Diversity of Opinion

CLARK GABLE and GRETA GARBO

RUDY VALENTINO

HOLLYWOOD. — All the world loves a lover and on this simple fact great reputations and greater fortunes have been built in the realms of beautiful nonsense—the stage and the screen.

Due to the desire of the female of the human species to go into a theatre or a movie palace and imagine herself in the place of the heroine to whom impassioned love is being made by the big Adonis-

like hero, the sky of the Thespian world is liberally besprinkled with stars, but in this day and age they all shine with such a similar degree of brilliance that it is next to impossible for a mere man to point to one particular luminary and say, "There shines the brightest star in the constellation."

Back in the days of John Barrymore's heyday, the task would have been simple; for the gentleman of the erratic gestures stood out like a moon among the throng of satellites that were his contemporaries. The same is true of the man who immortalized "The Sheik" and himself at the same time was without a peer when it came to turning the female heart to water. Rudolph Valentino's popularity was never better attested to than by the chaos that reigned in the world of women upon his death. Ninety per cent of the female population of the globe regarded the demise of the great lover as a personal loss.

But look around today. Where is there a star that shines with the blinding brilliance of a Barrymore or a Valentino? Who among the present galaxy of Adonises is fit successor to the man who with the magic of his personality wove a halo of romance about a flea-bitten sheik?

Clark Gable's philosophy of "Grab 'em, sock 'em and leave 'em" pictured with a rare finesse which is new to the screen, no doubt has had a great deal to do with his success as a great lover. He has capitalized on the current notoriety attached to gangsters and their widely heralded romances to bring to motion pictures a subtle portrayal of the "cave-man" type, which all women secretly palpitate over and not a few actually enjoy "in person."

Gable, with that lurking "come-hither" tantalizing smile of his, built his fame on the rough-and-ready strong lover type generally associated with the gangster. It was not until he played opposite the great Garbo in "Susan Lennox" that he forsook the dominating role for a more real life, that of the "gentleman" type—gentle, thoughtful, loving.

A poll of a hundred female movie fans has brought forth many names and recommendations for the honor.

Strange as it may seem, few seem to remember that only a short time ago, before the advent of the talkies, they raved about John Gilbert and how their blood pressure rose to alarming heights as they watched him in the throes of an impassioned love scene with the languorous Greta Garbo. Some whose opinion was solicited dreamily uttered the name of Clark Gable, the dark, beetle-browed he-man who favors the cave-man tactics of acquiring his woman. Others confessed that if they had to be rescued from a villain they would prefer the lanky Gary Cooper as their savior. The soulful-voiced Ramon Novarro was championed as the ideal lover by other Eves.

Then there was the Farrell bloc, which voted solidly for the youthful Charles and his gentle methods of winning maidens, hearts while still another faction professed its preference for the dashing elan of Maurice Chevalier, who woos and wins with his cajoling minstrelsy. The whimsical Robert Montgomery, too, has his public and one wonders how the young man would respond to hearing his name sighed with the air of a caress as it was when the inquiry was made.

That Ronald Colman still holds a warm spot in the hearts of his public is evident by the alacrity with which his backers proposed him as the logical wearer of the mantle of the great Valentino, only to be indignantly laughed to scorn by the champions of Lew Ayres.

The poll concluded leaving the question exactly where it was before, still unanswered.

The moviemagnates, too, one imagines would give a lot to be able to hitch their wagon to one outstanding star, the magic of whose name would be potent enough to keep the cash register ringing as an endless stream of women came to their palaces to give themselves up to the paradise of imagination and, in fancy, of the "World's Greatest Lover."

with the intent of permanency and which remains in the event that the nature of the production, or business, changes shall properly be classed as a part of the realty," the commission ruled.

The commission held that the following shall be included as integral parts of buildings, or improvements: Heating, ventilating, lighting and fire protection equipment, plumbing, built-in drinking water service and communicating systems and auto calls, elevators, escalators, crane tracks, coal bunkers, stuff tanks, storage vats, and all other equipment "which may be a part of the real estate, or improvements thereon, not classified by the commission."

WHAT IS REAL ESTATE SHOWN BY STATE'S TAX COMMISSION

A ruling determining what constitutes real estate under the terms of Ohio's new tax laws has been issued by the state tax commission.

The commission defines "real estate" as including all lands, lots, or parcels thereof, buildings, trackage, power generating equipment, boilers, engines, pumps, stills, tanks, cupolas, furnaces, kilns, and all other property which are affixed to real estate and which, if removed, would result in their demolition.

In general, all improvements which are affixed to the realty

HOLLYWOOD. — All the world loves a lover and on this simple fact great reputations and greater fortunes have been built in the realms of beautiful nonsense—the stage and the screen.

Due to the desire of the female of the human species to go into a theatre or a movie palace and imagine herself in the place of the heroine to whom impassioned love is being made by the big Adonis-like hero, the sky of the Thespian world is liberally besprinkled with stars, but in this day and age they all shine with such a similar degree of brilliance that it is next to impossible for a mere man to point to one particular luminary and say, "There shines the brightest star in the constellation."

Back in the days of John Barrymore's heyday, the task would have been simple; for the gentleman of the erratic gestures stood out like a moon among the throng of satellites that were his contemporaries. The same is true of the man who immortalized "The Sheik" and himself at the same time was without a peer when it came to turning the female heart to water. Rudolph Valentino's popularity was never better attested to than by the chaos that reigned in the world of women upon his death. Ninety per cent of the female population of the globe regarded the demise of the great lover as a personal loss.

But look around today. Where is there a star that shines with the blinding brilliance of a Barrymore or a Valentino? Who among the present galaxy of Adonises is a fit successor to the man who with the magic of his personality wove a halo of romance about a flea-bitten sheik?

Clark Gable's philosophy of "Grab 'em, sock 'em and leave 'em," pictured with a rare finesse which is new to the screen, no doubt has had a great deal to do with his success as a great lover. He has capitalized on the current notoriety attached to gangsters and their widely heralded romances to bring to motion pictures a subtle portrayal of the "cave-man" type, which all women secretly palpitate over and not a few actually enjoy "in person."

Gable, with that lurking "come-hither" tantalizing smile of his, built his fame on the rough-and-ready strong lover type generally associated with the gangster. It was not until he played opposite the great Garbo in "Susan Lenox" that he forsook the domineering role for one nearer real life, that of the "gentleman" type—generous, thoughtful, loving.

A poll of a hundred female movie fans has brought forth many names and recommendations for the honor.

Strange as it may seem, few seem to remember that only a short time ago, before the advent of the talkies, they raved about John Gilbert and how their blood pressure rose to alarming heights as they watched him in the throes of an impassioned love scene with the languorous Greta Garbo. Some whose opinion was solicited, dreamily uttered the name of Clark Gable, the dark, beetle-browed he-man who favors the cave-man tactics of acquiring his woman. Others confessed that if they had to be rescued from a villain they would prefer the lanky Gary Cooper as their savior. The soulful-voiced Ramon Novarro was championed as the ideal lover by other Eves.

Then there was the Farrell bloc, which voted solidly for the youthful Charles and his gentle methods of winning maidens, hearts while still another faction professed its preference for the dashing clan of Maurice Chevalier, who wooes and wins with his cajoling minstrelsy. The whimsical Robert Montgomery, too, has his public and one wonders how the young man would respond to hearing his name sighed with the air of a caress as it was when the inquiry was made.

That Ronald Colman still holds a warm spot in the hearts of his public is evident by the alacrity with which his backers proposed him as the logical wearer of the mantle of the great Valentino, only to be indignantly laughed to scorn by the champions of Lew Ayres.

The poll concluded leaving the question exactly where it was before, still unanswered.

The moviemagnates, too, one imagines would give a lot to be able to hitch their wagon to one outstanding star, the magic of whose name would be potent enough to keep the cash register ringing as an endless stream of women came to their palaces to give themselves up to the paradise of imagination and in fancy, of the "World's Greatest Lover."

WHAT IS REAL ESTATE SHOWN BY STATE'S TAX COMMISSION

A ruling determining what constitutes real estate under the terms of Ohio's new tax laws has been issued by the state tax commission.

The commission defines "real estate" as including all lands, lots, or parcels thereof, buildings, track-

age, power generating equipment, boilers, engines, pumps, stills, tanks, cupolas, furnaces, kilns, and all other property which are affixed to real estate and which, if removed, would result in their demolition. In general, all improvements which are affixed to the realty with the intent of permanency and which remains in the event that the nature of the production, or business, changes shall properly be classed as a part of the realty," the commission ruled.

The commission held that the following shall be included as integral parts of buildings, or improvements: Heating, ventilating, lighting and fire protection equipment, plumbing, built-in drinking water service and communicating systems and auto calls, elevators, escalators, crane trackage, coal bunkers, stuff tanks, storage vats, and all other equipment "which may be a part of the real estate, or improvements thereon, not classified by the commission."

The commission defined trackage as embracing all industrial railways, with bridges, trestles and track scales, used in transporting materials, operated and owned by a corporation or individual.

Power generating equipment includes boilers, engines, dynamos, generators, pumps and all other fixtures pertaining to the operation of a power house.

For taxation purposes, all real estate is to be appraised and placed on the tax duplicates at 100 per cent of their true value.

All property used in business and not permanently affixed to the real estate, and which would ordinarily be removed if the nature or character of the business, or industry, be changed shall be classed as personal property and assessed as such.

Under the new tax laws, merchants' inventories, comprising finished products, shall be taxed at 70 per cent of their appraised value.

Domestic animals, machinery and agricultural products on farms; raw materials, machinery, tools and other property, not finished products, in the hands of manufacturers and merchants, as well as other taxable tangible personal property is to be taxed at 50 per cent of their appraised value.

Copies of the ruling have been sent by the commission to the auditors of the 88 counties throughout the state.

Announcement was made that abstracts already approved by the commission, respecting the new tax duplicates of various counties, will be subjected to adjustments by the county auditors so as to conform with the ruling by the state tax commission.

C. A. C. To Pry Lid Off Local Court Season

Newark Quintet Opposes Club

A large crowd is expected at the Circleville Athletic Club gym Thursday evening when the C. A. C. court team plays its first game of the season against Monte Beaver's Selects of Newark. The club will be out for a victory in their first tilt.

Working diligently for the past three weeks members of the club squad are reported in good condition. Seven athletes have reported for the team, Art Steele, Eve Merriam, Boyce Parks, Judy Gordon, Dick Robinson, Bob Pickens and Joe Barnes, and from this squad Joe Lynch will pick his starting five. It's almost certain that

Steele and Gordon will be the forward posts and that Eve Merriam will be at one guard but the other three positions are wide open. It will be either Boyce Parks or Joe Barnes at center with Dick Robinson and Bob Pickens vying for the second guard job. It is expected that all members will see plenty of service during the tilt.

STRENGTH UNKNOWN

The strength of Beaver's team is not known. Monte usually gets into himself a fast squad but whether they will be able to force the club or not is not known.

The evening's festivities will begin at 7:15 when the Flying Clouds, a group of former high school stars, meet the Church of God team of Columbus. The Clouds will have Maloney, Glitt, Wefler, Zeimer, Clark, and several other former school players in their lineup.

Bill Griffith, of Columbus, will officiate the big game which will precede the usual Thanksgiving dance.

Hornswoggling John McGraw is getting to be a favorite pastime with the St. Louis Cardinals. It started when they obtained Frank Frisch for the Giants in exchange for Rogers Hornsby, who couldn't get along with the New York club. Again last winter, McGraw snapped up John Berly, promising pitcher from Rochester, a St. Louis farm. "Why did the Cards let Berly get away?" became a St. Louis fan. They have their answer today. Berly is back in the minors while Paul Derringer, the pitcher the Cards took in preference to Berly, is one of the stars of the St. Louis staff.

"TURKEY DAY" GAMES LISTED

Many Clashes of Importance In East While Midwest Is Quiet Until Saturday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Thanksgiving Day, the day when many of the country's gridiron leaders sing their annual swan songs, offers the football fan tomorrow a varied program, studded with several of the outstanding pigskin clashes of the season.

Penn-Cornell, as usual, is the big game in the east on Turkey day. Pitt-Nebraska, N. Y. U-Carnege Tech, Colgate-Brown and Holy Cross-Boston college, however, will provide the spectators along the Atlantic seaboard with just as many thrills, even though they haven't the tradition behind them that this thirty-eighth meeting of the Ithacans and the Quakers carries with it.

None of the middle western leaders will see any action tomorrow, but down south Tennessee, one of the three unbeaten and untied eleven in serious jeopardy when it tackles Kentucky at Knoxville, and Alabama-Vanderbilt at Nashville also promises lots of spectacular action.

Three other traditional battles down below the Mason-Dixie line feature Auburn and South Carolina in their annual clash at Columbia, S. C.; Virginia and North Carolina at Chapel Hill's beautiful stadium, and V. P. I. and V. M. I. in Virginia's outstanding game, at Roanoke.

ALBANESE IS STAR OF GRID

Merchants to Meet West Side A. C. of Columbus Thanksgiving Game Here.

Don Albanese, a flashy half-back, will be the serious threat the fast West Side A. C. football team will offer against the Circleville Merchants Thanksgiving afternoon at Heise field when these two fast outfits tangle.

Last year the Merchants took the West Side outfit into camp by the score of 14 to 0, and the Columbus boys remember only too well, as it was their only defeat of the season. This year they will be out for revenge, while the local gridirers will be just as stubborn that they will again taste of defeat.

Bob Rapp, former Central High athlete, is coach of the West Side men.

The referee's whistle will send them into action at 2:30 p. m.

Several changes are to be made in the Circleville lineup but as yet no definite ones have been announced.

21 LETTERS GIVEN TO LUTHERAN TEAM

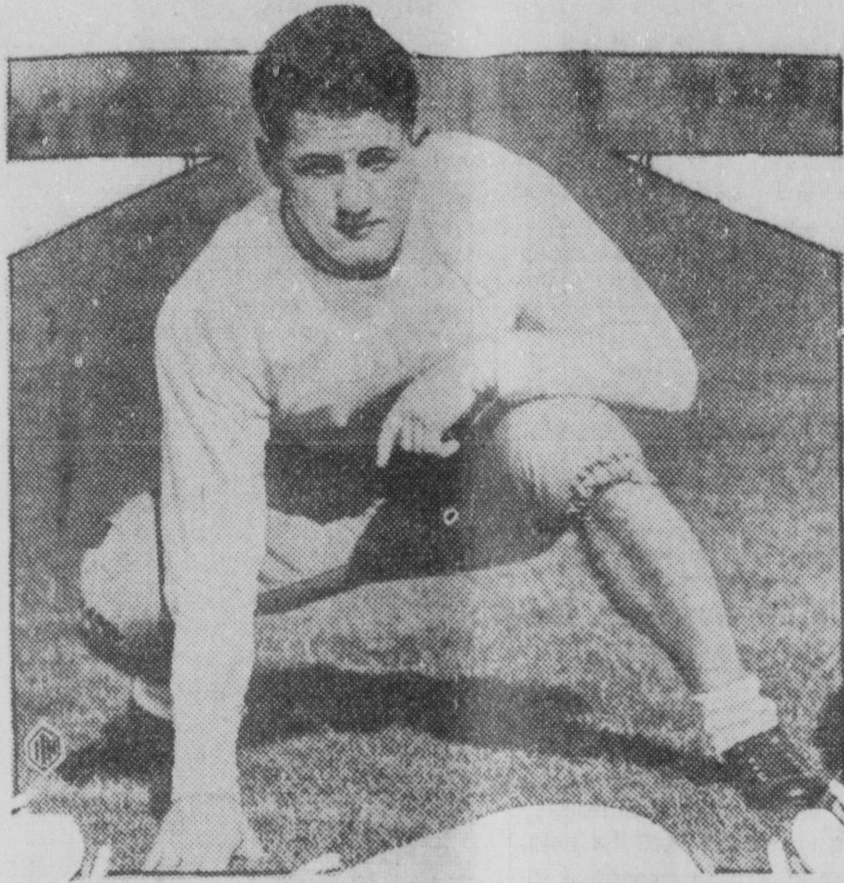

SPRINGFIELD, O., — Twenty-one varsity football letters and 20 freshman football awards are granted at Wittenberg College.

Twenty players on the undefeated Wittenberg varsity eleven, which disbanded after its sensational 21-6 victory over Dayton U. at Dayton Saturday, were honored, upon recommendation of Coach Ell Stobbs, while Manager Robert Garvie of Springfield was also awarded a letter. The 10 seniors who will receive varsity letters will also get blankets, while the 10 non-graduating varsity men and the 20 freshmen will receive sweaters.

Lefty Grove fanned eleven Japs in Tokio. Looks like the Chinese army ought to sign him for their sharpshooting division.

THE VAST MAJORITY DEMANDS Gillette BLADES

Conqueror of Irish

John W. Baker, of the Trojans, whose place kick from the 24-yard line in the last few minutes of play against Notre Dame's undefeated eleven brought victory to Southern California in one of the most spectacular gridiron classics in football history. Baker's sensational boot brought the Trojans' score to 16 against Notre Dame's 14 at South Bend. It was the Irish gridirers' first defeat in three years.

PICKAWAY IN HOT CONTEST

Meyer-men Win From Washington-Twp 22-21 In Over-time Court Grid.

Pickaway-twp's court team defeated Washington-twp's scrappy aggregation on the Pickaway court Tuesday evening by a 22-21 score in a five minute overtime period. Play was fast and furious with Washington leading until the final minutes of the regular playing time. The count was tied and in the remaining five minutes Graves and Wilson put on steam for the Meyer-men to cop the decision.

Washington led at the half, 11-9.

Coach Meyer used two full teams while Coach Boyer of Washington employed only five men.

A preliminary between the Pickaway girls alumni and the Washington girls alumni was won by the former 23-13.

MIAMI PROSPECTS ON HARDWOOD POOR

Miami prospects for the coming basketball season are anything but bright. Coach John Mauer has only four lettermen and practically no reserves out of which to build his team. The lettermen are: John Niemi, of Ashtabula; the Barrett twins, Dick and Bob, of Springfield; and "Boyc" Cheadle, of Salem, S. D. Niemi and Barrett twins are forwards; Cheadle is a guard.

Roy Mondron, Mt. Vernon, a reserve who was developing fast last year, has been disciplined and will not be available. Andy Lang, Dayton, a center candidate, is the only other reserve of varsity caliber. Mauer will place his hopes in the sophomores, several of whom showed marked ability as freshmen. The best of the lot are: John Anthony, Whiting, Ind.; Warren Ott, Cleveland, Ind.; Keller, Mason, Lewis McCann, Dayton; C. Csepke, Niles; Paul Schmitt, Port Clinton; James Allan, Dayton.

The schedule is as stiff as ever faced by a Miami team. Twelve Buckeye Conference games, two games with Big Ten teams and a game with Vanderbilt is a full sized assignment for Mauer's green team.

NOT AFRAID OF 13

SOUTHBORO, Mass. — Richard M. Evans, former lieutenant-governor of this Kiwanis district, has no fear of the superstition-ridden 13. Departing for a visit with his son, Rev. Richard M. Evans, in Wisconsin, he left Boston on Friday, the 13th, via train 13, at 13 minutes of two o'clock, and his berth was lower 13. A friend bidding him goodbye, reminded him that there were 13 letters in his name.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

C. A. C. To Pry Lid Off Local Court Season

Newark Quintet Opposes Club

A large crowd is expected at the Circleville Athletic Club gym Thursday evening when the C. A. C. court team plays its first game of the season against Monte Beaver's Selects of Newark. The club will be out for a victory in their first tilt.

Working diligently for the past three weeks members of the club squad are reported in good condition. Seven athletes have reported for the team, Art Steele, Eve Merfman, Boyce Parks, Judy Gordon, Dick Robinson, Bob Pickens and Joe Barnes, and from this squad Joe Lynch will pick his starting five. It's almost certain that Steele and Gordon will be the forward posts and that Eve Merfman will be at one guard but the other three positions are wide open. It will be either Boyce Parks or Joe Barnes at center with Dick Robinson and Bob Pickens vying for the second guard job. It is expected that all members will see plenty of service during the tilt.

STRENGTH UNKNOWN

The strength of Beaver's team is not known. Monte usually gets into himself a fast squad but whether they will be able to force the club or not is not known. The evening's festivities will begin at 7:15 when the Flying Clouds, a group of former high school stars, meet the Church of God team of Columbus. The Clouds will have Maloney, Gitt, Wefler, Zeimer, Clark, and several other former school players in their lineup.

Bill Griffith, of Columbus, will officiate the big game which will precede the usual Thanksgiving dance.

Hornswogging John McGraw is getting to be a favorite pastime with the St. Louis Cardinals. It started when they obtained Frank Frisch for the Giants in exchange for Rogers Hornsby, who couldn't get along with the New York club. Again last winter, McGraw snapped up John Berly, promising pitcher from Rochester, a St. Louis farm. "Why did the Cards let Berly get away?" he moaned St. Louis fans. They have their answer today Berly is back in the minors while Paul Derringer, the pitcher the Cards took in preference to Berly, is one of the stars of the St. Louis staff.

"TURKEY DAY" GAMES LISTED

Many Clashes of Importance In East While Midwest Is Quiet Until Saturday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Thanksgiving Day, the day when many of the country's gridiron leaders sing their annual swan songs, offers the football fan tomorrow a varied program, studied with several of the outstanding pigskin clashes of the season.

Penn-Cornell, as usual, is the big game in the east on Turkey Day. Pitt-Nebraska, N. Y. U-Carnegie Tech, Colgate-Brown and Holy Cross-Boston college, however, will provide the spectators along the Atlantic seaboard with just as many thrills, even though they haven't the tradition behind them that this thirty-eighth meeting of the Ithacans and the Quakers carries with it.

None of the middle western leaders will see any action tomorrow, but down south Tennessee, one of the three unbeaten and untied eleven in the country will put its winning streak in serious jeopardy when it tackles Kentucky at Knoxville, and Alabama-Vanderbilt at Nashville also promises lots of spectacular action.

Three other traditional battles down below the Mason-Dixie line feature Auburn and South Carolina in their annual clash at Columbia, S. C., Virginia and North Carolina at Chapel Hill's beautiful stadium, and V. P. I. and V. M. I. in Virginia's outstanding game, at Roanoke.

ALBANESE IS STAR OF GRID

Merchants to Meet West Side A. C. of Columbus Thanksgiving Game Here.

Don Albanese, a flashy half-back, will be the serious threat the fast West Side A. C. football team will offer against the Circleville Merchants' Thanksgiving afternoon at Hesse field when these two fast outfits tangle. Last year the Merchants took the West Side outfit into camp by the score of 14 to 0, and the Columbus boys remember only too well, as it was their only defeat of the season. This year they will be out for revenge, while the local gridironers will be just as stubborn that they will again taste of defeat.

Bob Rapp, former Central High athlete, is coach of the West Side men.

The referee's whistle will send them into action at 2:30 p. m. Several changes are to be made in the Circleville lineup but as yet no definite ones have been announced.

21 LETTERS GIVEN TO LUTHERAN TEAM

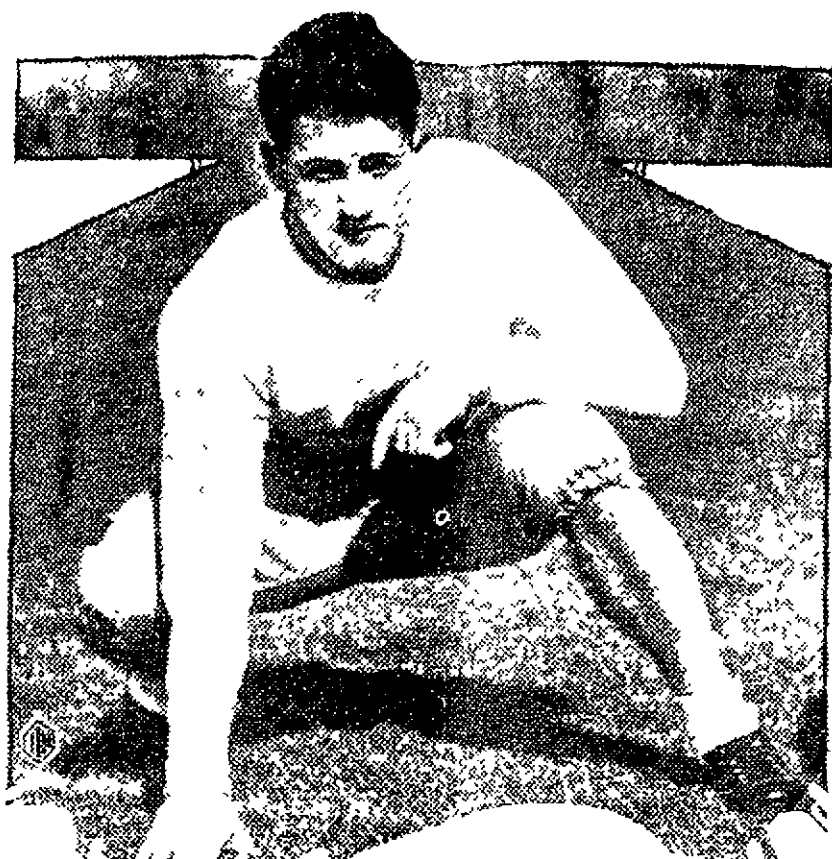

SPRINGFIELD, O., Twenty-five varsity football letters and 20 freshman football awards are granted at Wittenberg College.

Twenty players on the undefeated Wittenberg varsity eleven, which disbanded after its sensational 21-6 victory over Dayton U. at Dayton Saturday, were honored upon recommendation of Coach Bill Stobbs, while Manager Robert Garvie of Springfield was also awarded a letter. The 10 seniors who will receive varsity letters will also get blankets, while the 10 non-graduating varsity men and the 20 freshmen will receive sweaters.

Lefty Grove fanned the Japs in Tokyo. Looks like the Chinese army ought to sign him for their shartshooting division.

THE VAST MAJORITY DEMANDS Gillette BLADES

Conqueror of Irish

John W. Baker, of the Trojans, whose place kick from the 24-yard line in the last few minutes of play against Notre Dame's undefeated eleven brought victory to Southern California in one of the most spectacular gridiron classics in football history. Baker's sensational boot brought the Trojans' score to 16 against Notre Dame's 14 at South Bend. It was the Irish gridiron's first defeat in three years.

PICKAWAY IN HOT CONTEST

Meyer-men Win From Washington-Twp 22-21 In Over-time Court Grind.

Pickaway-Twp's court team defeated Washington-Twp's scrappy aggregation on the Pickaway court Tuesday evening by a 22-21 score in a five minute overtime period. Play was fast and furious with Washington leading until the final minutes of the regular playing time. The count was tied and in the remaining five minutes Graves and Wilson put on steam for the Meyer-men to cop the decision.

Washington led at the half, 11-9.

Coach Meyer used two full teams while Coach Boyer of Washington employed only five men.

A preliminary between the Pickaway girls alumni and the Washington girls alumni was won by the former 23-13.

Who Is Screen's Greatest Lover?

Poll of One Hundred Female Movie Fans, in Endeavor to Name Successor to Rudolph Valentino, Reveals Wide Diversity of Opinion

CLARK GABLE and GRETA GARBO

RUDY VALENTINO

HOLLYWOOD. — All the world loves a lover and on this simple fact great reputations and greater fortunes have been built in the realms of beautiful nonsense—the stage and the screen.

Due to the desire of the female of the human species to go into a theatre or a movie palace and imagine herself in the place of the heroine to whom impassioned love is being made by the big Adonis-

like hero, the sky of the Thespian world is liberally besprinkled with stars, but in this day and age they all shine with such a similar degree of brilliance that it is next to impossible for a mere man to point to one particular luminary and say, "There shines the brightest star in the constellation."

Back in the days of John Barrymore's heyday, the task would have been simple; for the gentleman of the erratic gestures stood out like a moon among the throng of satellites that were his contemporaries. The same is true of the man who immortalized "The Sheik" and himself at the same time was without a peer when it came to turning the female heart to water. Rudolph Valentino's popularity was never better attested to than by the chaos that reigned in the world of women upon his death. Ninety per cent of the female population of the globe regarded the demise of the great lover as a personal loss.

But look around today. Where is there a star that shines with the blinding brilliance of a Barrymore or a Valentino? Who among the present galaxy of Adonises is a fit successor to the man who with the magic of his personality wove a halo of romance about a flea-bitten sheik?

Clark Gable's philosophy of "Grab 'em, sock 'em and leave 'em," pictured with a rare finesse which is new to the screen, no doubt has had a great deal to do with his success as a great lover. He has capitalized on the current notoriety attached to gangsters and their widely heralded romances to bring to motion pictures a subtle portrayal of the "cave-man" type, which all women secretly palpitate over and not a few actually enjoy "in person."

Gable, with that lurking "come-hither" tantalizing smile of his, built his fame on the rough-and-ready strong lover type generally associated with the gangster. It was not until he played opposite the great Garbo in "Susan Lenox" that he forsook the domineering role for "one nearer real life, that of the "gentleman" type—generous, thoughtful, loving.

A poll of a hundred female movie fans has brought forth many names and recommendations for the honor.

Strange as it may seem, few seem to remember that only a short time ago, before the advent of the talkies, they raved about John Gilbert and how their blood pressure rose to alarming heights as they watched him in the throes of an impassioned love scene with the languorous Greta Garbo. Some whose opinion was solicited, dreamily uttered the name of Clark Gable, the dark, beetle-browed he-man who favors the cave-man tactics of acquiring his woman. Others confessed that if they had to be rescued from a villain they would prefer the lanky Gary Cooper as their savior. The soulful-voiced Ramon Novarro was championed as the ideal lover by other fans.

Then there was the Farrell bloc, which voted solidly for the youthful Charles and his gentle methods of winning maidens, hearts while still another faction professed its preference for the dashing elan of Maurice Chevalier, who woos and wins with his cajoling minstrelsy. The whimsical Robert Montgomery, too, has his public and one wonders how the young man would respond to hearing his name sighed with the air of a caress as it was when the inquiry was made.

That Ronald Colman still holds a warm spot in the hearts of his public is evident by the alacrity with which his backers proposed him as the logical wearer of the mantle of the great Valentino, only to be indignantly laughed to scorn by the champions of Lew Ayres.

The poll concluded leaving the question exactly where it was before, still unanswered.

The moviemagnates, too, one imagines would give a lot to be able to hitch their wagon to one outstanding star, the magic of whose name would be potent enough to keep the cash register ringing as an endless stream of women came to their palaces to give themselves up to the paradise of imagination and, in fancy, of the "World's Greatest Lover."

WHAT IS REAL ESTATE SHOWN BY STATE'S TAX COMMISSION

A ruling determining what constitutes real estate under the terms of Ohio's new tax laws has been issued by the state tax commission.

The commission defines "real estate" as including all lands, lots, or parcels thereof, buildings, track-

age, power generating equipment, boilers, engines, pumps, stills, tanks, cupolas, furnaces, kilns, and all other property which are affixed to real estate and which, if removed, would result in their demolition. In general, all improvements which are affixed to the reality with the intent of permanency and which remains in the event that the nature of the production, or business, changes shall properly be classed as a part of the reality," the commission ruled.

The commission held that the following shall be included as integral parts of buildings, or improvements: Heating, ventilating, lighting and fire protection equipment, plumbing, built-in drinking water service and communicating systems and auto calls, elevators, escalators, cranes, trackage, coal bunkers, stuff tanks, storage vats, and all other equipment "which may be a part of the real estate, or improvements thereon, not classified by the commission."

The commission defined trackage as embracing all industrial railways, with bridges, trestles and track scales, used in transporting materials, operated and owned by a corporation or individual.

Power generating equipment includes boilers, engines, dynamos, generators, pumps and all other fixtures pertaining to the operation of a power house.

For taxation purposes, all real estate is to be appraised and placed on the tax duplicates at 100 per cent of their true value.

All property used in business and not permanently affixed to the real estate, and which would ordinarily be removed if the nature or character of the business, or industry, be changed shall be classed as personal property and assessed as such.

Under the new tax laws, merchants' inventories, comprising finished products, shall be taxed at 70 per cent of their appraised value.

Domestic animals, machinery and agricultural products on farms; raw materials, machinery, tools and other property, not finished products, in the hands of manufacturers and merchants, as well as other taxable tangible personal property is to be taxed at 50 per cent of their appraised value.

Copies of the ruling have been sent by the commission to the auditors of the 88 counties throughout the state.

Announcement was made that abstracts already approved by the commission, respecting the new tax duplicates of various counties, will be subjected to adjustments by the county auditors so as to conform with the ruling by the state tax commission.

JAP TROOPS MOVE SOUTH

Developments in Sino-Japanese Struggle Are Expected To Occur Soon.

By International News Service

New Japanese troop movements southward toward Chinchow, provisional headquarters of Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, governor of Manchuria, were reported today.

Following clashes with so-called "bandit armies," Japanese soldiers occupied Xiaospangtze in preparation for an attack upon Chinchow.

Ldwaid Hunter, International News Service correspondent, arrived at Chinchow, 150 miles from Mukden, the first neutral newspaperman to reach the spot where a serious new Sino-Japanese conflict is expected. Hunter reported Chinese authorities at Chinchow plan to make a stand against the Japanese although military observers characterize such an attempt as "hopeless."

In Paris, the league council struggled with the problem. Dr. Alfred Sze of China received new instructions from Nanking, which observers characterized as tantamount to an ultimatum demanding withdrawal of Japanese troops within fifteen days. He indicated he would keep the instructions in his pocket if Japan voluntarily agreed to evacuate.

BETTER OHIO LAWS IS HOPE OF BAR

MARION, O. Nov. 25.—A three-fold effort to better Ohio's laws and practices of the legal profession will be backed by the Ohio Bar Association according to the outline which had been presented today by Walter A. Ryan of Cincinnati, president of the organization.

Ryan told members of the Marion-co Bar Association at their annual meeting here last night that codification of statutes which govern the operation of municipal courts, legislation to govern airplane traffic and an attack on unauthorized practice of law were the principal activities which the association stands behind.

New problems arising from the operations of air traffic and a revision of accident laws necessitated a new outlook in legislation for aviation, he declared.

Three Roumanians were captured and taken to Soviet Russia.

Do It Today!

CROWDED stores indicate that for once the public has taken heart the annual warning to "Shop and Mail Early." The Millennium for the merchant and postman will be when everybody shops and mails early. They are encouraged this year, but will postpone their rejoicing until Christmas day tells the tale. Thousands are buying and mailing already, but there are still those who will wait until the eleventh hour to think about their Christmas gift list. These latter resolve each day to heed the warning. Each morning they realize that one more day of the few remaining has dawned and determine to do their shopping and mailing before night—and then they banish all thought of their good resolution until the stores and post offices are closed. These are long and difficult days for store workers and postal employees. Few breathing spells come in December to those who are as necessary to the fullest enjoyment of Christmas as Santa Claus and the Christmas tree. But their burden would be lightened if the week before Christmas brought a diminishing, instead of a swelling, of the rush. After weeks of working at top speed, it is not surprising that an eleventh hour deluge of shopping and mail shatters the nerves, patience and health of store and postal workers. Shopping and mailing early shows as much consideration of self as of others. Christmas shopping and mailing in the rush period are as cruel on shoppers as on those who serve them. Moreover, gift lists filled in haste often fail to please recipients. So shop and mail early that those who give, receive and serve may be happier on Christmas Day.

The Turkey Gobbler

THE great American bird is not the hen nor the eagle, but the turkey gobbler. The gobbler is lord of the barnyard and field marshal among the fowls. See him strut in the fullness of his pride, tail feathers spreading, head up, wings trailing, but not ingloriously! His crimson comb and purplish wattle give him the appearance of a read-faced and imperiously concerned in everything going on about him. Such pompous, dignity and swagger is rare. His irritable "Gobble, gobble, gobble" strike terror into the hearts of little children, but is music in the ears of the more sophisticated who envision him trussed up in a roaster and stewing in his own juice. The turkey has been closely associated with American history from the beginning. It will be remembered that at the famous Thanksgiving feast of the Pilgrim Fathers in November, 1621, in which the friendly Indians participated, wild turkey was the chief delicacy. Once this elusive bird was plentiful but extinct. In only a few sections of the country the wild turkey may be found. It begins to look as though the domestic turkey is destined to go the way of its progenitor. Young turkeys are hard to raise and the Thanksgiving and Christmas demand exceeds the supply. No one wants to see the day when the turkey has disappeared from the land and the proud gobbler struts and fumes no more. There is no substitute for the turkey gobbler in sight. As compared with him the rooster is plebeian and the gander "a lesser breed without the law." The gobbler is a symbol of prosperity and a token of hospitality as well.

The End

SUBSIDIENCE of the continents beneath the seas and the caving of the race is the latest scientific guess as to the end of the world—some 25,000,000 years hence. For this last, much thanks. There still remains to man plenty of time in which to enjoy himself and to get something out of life. In the meantime, he will doubtless be treated to many variations of theory as to the end-all. Only a few weeks ago scientists solemnly gave warning of an ending by drought, with seas receding and land becoming too arid and torrid for existence. Between being dried out and being drowned there may not be much choice, but there is wide range of difference. In between there is room for innumerable variations, and beyond there is room for even wilder fancies and guesses. It seems that scientific alarmists can not long remain silent on this subject. Very often prophets raise up to forecast the end. Many have been so rash as to cast their disaster for an early date, and accordingly have been discredited by failure.

The CZARINA'S RUBIES by Sidney Warwick

READ THIS FIRST

The famous and sinister Zarina Rubies belong rightfully to Katharine Faring, granddaughter of a Russian prince. Her friend, Frank Severn, recovers them for her in Russia and sends Paul Federoff to England with them. Federoff is murdered at Monksilver, an empty country house owned by Severn, but the killers fail to find the gems.

Severn is kidnapped and carried unconscious to Monksilver, too, and there his friend, Jim Wynter, finds Creyke, Severn's servant, stabbed to death. He enters the house, is injured in a fight and then drugged and taken to the home of a Dr. Martell, who revives him. Wynter returns to Monksilver with his friend Sant and the police. Creyke's body has been carried away and the house seems to be empty.

NOW GO ON

CHAPTER XXII

Unless he were mistaken in that flash of intuition directly prompted by what had just happened here at Monksilver, then the first clue to the mystery behind Severn's disappearance was in his hands. And Jim Wynter felt pretty certain that he was not mistaken. His eyes reflected a suppressed eager excitement. But whatever that rather startling thought in his mind was, possible clue or not, for the present at least he seemed to have no intention of vouchsafing even a hint of it to the other three men.

The police inspector had turned to Sant. "What is the telephone number of Mr. Severn's place in Essex?" he asked. "We want any information obtainable about this man Creyke." Inspector Game dispatched the constable on his bicycle to put through a call to Beggar's Court before proceeding to search Monksilver. Wynter remembered suddenly that he wanted to send off a telephone message, too. A message to Katharine Faring.

"May I borrow your car for five minutes, Sant?" Wynter drove off to find the nearest call office, whilst Game began his search of the house. The birds had long since flown of course, but they might have left some clue.

ASTONISHED

In the first room they entered something leapt out to their eyes to draw a startled exclamation from Sant. The room was oak paneled. In half a dozen places the paneling had been splintered and here and there wrenched away from the wall. "Good Lord! What does this mean?" "Done last night, I suppose, by the men Mr. Wynter surprised here, suggested the inspector. "May have been," said Sant, staring at the havoc. "But it's weeks since I was at Monksilver. The house has been shut up since that murder here; no caretaker could stay. But what can the idea be? Looks like sheer purposeless mischief. I wonder if it's the same in other rooms."

In each of the downstairs rooms similar damage had been done. It was as if some madman had run amuck with a crowbar. "Almost looks as if something was being searched for behind the paneling," said Bill Brayson.

"So it does—but for what?" asked Sant with a helpless shrug. Some ten minutes later Jim Wynter strode back into the house. He paused with an exclamation in the doorway in one of the damaged rooms.

"Look at that, Wynter," broke out Sant explosively. "Same in the other rooms, too. What the devil can it mean?"

Wynter started into the room. Here was further proof that the mystery surrounding Frank Severn was linked with those Murinov jewels supposedly hidden here at Monksilver. That conviction of his had made him feel it was imperative that the police should be informed of those unrevealed facts behind Federoff's murder that he had learned from Katharine. He had just been speaking to her on the telephone.

"Well, it rather looks like evidence," Wynter said, "that those who have kidnapped Severn may be the same men who murdered that Russian weeks ago in this house." "Evidence—how?" the inspector broke in.

REVELATION

"Those splintered panels—evidence of a determined search for something hidden here. And what they were searching for is a cache of jewels that would tempt any crook."

"But what jewels?" Sant was staring at him with startled eyes.

"The Zarina Rubies. You've heard of 'em. I expect—they belonged to the late Prince Alexis Murinov, once of the Russian Imperial Guard. Severn contrived to smuggle them out of Russia, sent them to Monksilver in Federoff's care," Wynter explained. "And it was for those jewels that Federoff was murdered."

"But nothing of this came out at the inquest," broke in the inspector sharply. "If you knew this definitely, why didn't you come forward to give evidence?"

"Oh, for one thing, I happened to be several thousand miles away," said Wynter lightly. "And my informant knew nothing of it until after the inquest. I heard about it myself for the first time last night."

He glanced at the damaged walls. "I don't know, of course, but it's my idea that all this was done before last night," he added. "A systematic search for those jewels that Federoff's death had failed to reveal."

"But why do you suppose that?" cried Sant.

"Because of two words in Russian that the dying man had evidently written—'still safe.' That came out at the inquest, of course. Those two words could only have been meant as a message to Severn, and referred to the Zarina Rubies," Wynter said. "What more likely than that Federoff's murderers, after ransacking this house in vain for the plunder, kidnapped Severn—brought him here last night with the idea of forcing him to reveal where the jewels were hidden, their second desperate bid for that secret? Only my theory—but I'd be willing to bet on it."

QUESTION

"How did you come to know of those jewels? From Miss Faring?" asked Sant abruptly. "Yes. But how did you guess that?"

For a moment Sant did not answer.

"Only because I knew she heard from Severn whilst he was abroad. Miss Faring seemed to think, so she told me, that he might be coming to England some five weeks ago. But she mentioned no jewels to me. This is the first I've heard of 'em."

For Wynter it was odd to think of those matchless jewels lying hidden, it might be, within a few feet of him now. Pretty certainly an attempt had been made to force Severn last night to reveal his hiding place, known only to him and the dead man. But had it succeeded?

ANXIETY

If his knowledge of Frank Severn, with that dogged determination and obstinacy of his, went for anything—not! Besides, Severn probably would realize that his life was safe only so long as those jewels remained undiscovered. To surrender that secret might be to seal his own fate. These men would never let him go free to testify against them. Still safely hidden somewhere at Monksilver, those heirlooms worth a fortune! Wynter had scarcely a doubt of it.

But the thought of his friend in the hands of these merciless unknown shadows of men, as Sant had called them, was one to fill with a deepening, terrible anxiety.

Not a square inch of the great rambling house was left unexplored. But the search proved utterly fruitless.

"And not only no trace of Creyke but no clue to the men who murdered him and who spirited Severn away," Sant broke out. "You may be right in your theory as to motive, Wynter—but I'm afraid it doesn't bring us much nearer to a solution, or give us the vestige of a clue."

No vestige of a clue, possibly, unless—

Unless, Wynter was telling himself, that queer startling thought that had come to him—suggested merely by two or three trivial facts each seemingly unimportant in itself, yet that together had struck him as having an odd significance—had put into his hands one end of an unexpected thread. But he was not going to take even Sant into his confidence yet as to that strange possible clue.

They had made a hurried search of the grounds, still to find no trace of the dead man when the constable returned to report the result of his telephone call to Beggar's Court.

"It seems that Creyke went out early last night. It was believed he was merely going to the village. But there has been no word or sign of him since."

Leaving the police at Monksilver, Wynter and the others drove off in Sant's car. Sant's round, good-humored face looked unlike itself, frowning and troubled.

"Queer about those jewels," he said thoughtfully, "and certainly that looks like the first gleam of daylight into the motive behind this mystery. If only we could get to grips with these men! It's horrible to think of poor Frank in their hands."

"But we're going to get to grips with them!" Wynter said. Sant dropped them at the end of Garton Road, where the Grays had lived, a quiet street of old Georgian houses lying at the back of the abbey. Milly was upstairs, but her voice floated down to them as they entered.

"I won't be a minute. I've been bubbling over for you to come back to hear your news!"

Milly's one minute was more accurately, five. Wynter was speaking at the telephone as she came hurrying downstairs.

AN INQUIRY

"Then you'll give me a ring as soon as you can lay hands on the information?" he was saying to an Imperial Airways official at Croydon. "Thanks very much."

In his letter from Vienna five weeks ago Frank Severn had told Katharine he was leaving for Paris immediately, there to complete his journey home by air. It was from that point, Wynter felt, this mystery confronting them now had really begun—when Severn had failed to come, had sent no word. Five weeks of unbroken silence... and then to have turned up strangely, secretly, a few days ago at Beggar's Court from France, still without a word to Katharine.

AT THE CLIFTONA Press Advance

Comedy—sparkling scads of it—and drama, romance, pathos are the elements which get a thorough workout in the hands of a very capable and very large cast of stage and screen favorites in "Girls About Town," Paramount's lavish and brilliant talkie which comes to the Cliftona Theatre.

Kay Francis in 'Girls About Town'

The story is an original by Zoe Akins, the woman novelist and playwright who has achieved glory in a few years in the field of letters and of the stage and screen, with such opi as the scenarios of "Sarah and Son" and "Anybody's Woman"—and the stage original, "The Greeks Had a Word for It." The Americans have a word for what the central characters of "Girls About Town" do. It is "gold-digging." Kay Francis and Lillian Tashman play these parts as inveterate brunette and blond dazdlers who prey upon the easy spenders who come to the big city for business and pleasure.

AT THE GRAND

Mother knows best. At least mother knew best where Ruth Warren, who has an important role in the Fox production, "Mr. Lemon Of Orange," starring El Brendel and Fifi Dorsay, and coming to the Grand Theatre, was concerned.

Mother took Ruth, her brother and sister to the local theatre amateur nights in Kansas City, Missouri, where they live. Persistency gained them a tryout. They made good. From amateurs to professionals was a short step and the trio blossomed out in vaudeville as a singing, dancing and dialogue team, with the then four-year-old Ruth as the youngest member. Thus she has spent much of her life on the stage.

One of Ruth Warren's proudest boasts is that she is a personal discovery of Winfield Sheehan, Vice-President and general manager of the Fox Film Corporation. It so happened that she accompanied a friend to the New York studios to see her take a test. There she met Mr. Sheehan, who suggested that she, too, take a test. The result was a contract and a trip to Hollywood.

A Diabetic Child Should Be Taught Remedial Care

"Infantile Diabetes" Can Be Fully Controlled by Correct Diet and Care, Says Authority, and Early Instruction May Avoid Later Complications.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner Health, New York City.

A RECENT health survey indicates there is a marked increase in the occurrence of diabetes. This statement is not so alarming as one might believe at first. I say this because the number of deaths from diabetes has certainly decreased in the past decade. At one time diabetes was looked upon with dread. But with the discovery of insulin, the disease is no longer feared as it used to be.

The control of diabetes is mainly the control of the diet. When a strict diet fails to overcome the effects of the disease, insulin is used. Not every case of diabetes requires the giving of insulin.

One type of the disease has been positively puzzling to the medical profession. It is that form found in children. This is spoken of as "infantile diabetes."

Undoubtedly there are more cases among children than is commonly believed. Years ago when a child was known to have diabetes little hope was held for his recovery. With the discovery of insulin this attitude has completely changed.

Many cases of diabetes, particularly in children under five years of age, make remarkable progress under simple diabetic management. Insulin, too, has saved the lives of many children, enabling them to continue the activities of normal children.

There is no reason to look upon a diabetic child as seriously handicapped. Once the child has been taught all he should know concerning his ailment, his future health is assured. If instruction is given in childhood and carefully followed, uncomfortable complications in later life will not occur.

It is interesting to note that most children who have diabetes are mentally well developed. For some reason the condition is most likely to be found where there is only one child in the family.

It has been noticed by some students of the subject that many diabetic children are exceedingly tall. However, children who have this disease are not given the proper attention tend to be stunted in growth as they grow older.

The signs of diabetes in children are the same as those found in the adult. Too many times these signs are completely ignored and the disease is overlooked. It is not discovered until there has been an examination of the urine. Then an excessive amount of sugar is found. Rigid supervision of the eating habits of these children is imperative. The diet must be carefully prescribed by a physician. If the sugar in blood and urine is not decreased by a proper diet it is probable insulin will be prescribed.

The results of insulin treatment in such cases has been quite satisfactory. The little patients show normal development and often become conspicuously healthy adults.

ABOUT two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomach. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been overstimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless liquid, pleasant, efficient and harmless. But it kills excess acids, and has remained the standard with the doctors for more than 50 years.

It is the ideal remedy for constipation, headaches, heartburn, nausea, sick stomach, biliousness. It offers sure relief from the effects of over-indulgence.

WHEN FOOD SOURS

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know. Be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, used by physicians for over fifty years in correcting excess acid. 25c and 50c bottles sold at all drug stores.

To Keep Teeth White Phillips' Milk of Magnesia as a mouthwash in conjunction with Phillips' Dental Magnesia, a superior tooth-paste, offers the best possible protection from all tooth decay. It neutralizes mouth acids, which eat through the tooth enamel. Your dentist will tell you he knows of nothing better for keeping the teeth and mouth in a fine, healthy condition.

JAP TROOPS MOVE SOUTH

Developments in Sino-Japanese Struggle Are Expected To Occur Soon.

By International News Service

New Japanese troop movements southward toward Chinchow, provisional headquarters of Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, governor of Manchuria, were reported today.

Following clashes with so-called "bandit armies," Japanese soldiers occupied Kaoping in preparation for an attack upon Chinchow.

Edward Hunter, International News Service correspondent, arrived at Chinchow, 150 miles from Mukden, the first neutral newspaperman to reach the spot where a serious new Sino-Japanese conflict is expected. Hunter reported Chinese authorities at Chinchow plan to make a stand against the Japanese although military observers characterize such an attempt as "hopeless."

In Paris, the league council struggled with the problem. Dr. Alfred Sze of China received new instructions from Nanking, which observers characterized as tantamount to an ultimatum demanding withdrawal of Japanese troops within fifteen days. He indicated he would keep the instructions in his pocket if Japan voluntarily agreed to evacuate.

BETTER OHIO LAWS IS HOPE OF BAR

MARION, O., Nov. 25.—A three-fold effort to better Ohio's laws and practices of the legal profession will be backed by the Ohio Bar Association, according to the outline which had been presented today by Walter A. Ryan of Cincinnati, president of the organization.

Ryan told members of the Marion-co Bar Association at their annual meeting here last night that codification of statutes which govern the operation of municipal courts, legislation to govern airplane traffic and an attack on unauthorized practice of law were the principal activities which the association stands behind.

New problems arising from the operations of air traffic and a revision of accident laws necessitated a new outlook in legislation for aviation, he declared.

Many Things To Be Thankful For

We have been so busy chasing butterflies that we have neglected the choicer gifts of life. Should we not give thanks that our attention has been directed to better things.

This year the people of Ohio have had much to be thankful for. We have had the opportunity of helping each other. It is not what we have which enriches us but what we use wisely.

Have you ever thought how thankful we should be for pain? Pain of mind or body? "Never the exquisite pain, then never the exquisite bliss. For the heart that is dull to the one, can never be strung to this. How many of us have cause to give thanks that our wishes did not come true? That our prayers were unanswered—our ships at sea never reached port.

Youth is impatient, but as we near the end of the journey we find on every hand broken bubbles cast aside. We know that pain means life, absence of pain—death. The souls of men must be purified by fire and dross burned away, leaving the pure gold.

This season originated by our forefathers and joyously observed by their descendants through the succeeding years should mean more to us than Turkey and Pumpkin Pie. It is meet that we rejoice and make merry that the feet of our ancestors were directed to these shores and that we as a nation have prospered, but let us not forget at the same time to render thanks to the Providence which made and preserved us a nation.
